Trainers

Camille Milner, JD—Camille is the Immediate Past President of the Collaborative Divorce Texas. She has handled numerous collaborative law cases, with her co-trainers has trained hundreds of collaborative law professionals in Texas, taught family law and collaborative law in universities and law schools in Texas, and now, with her husband, Tim Crouch, is also training collaborative professionals throughout Texas and other states on the most effective ways to market their collaborative law practices as state organizations, practice groups, and in their individual practices. Camille, along with her co-trainers, has written and made many presentations on collaborative practice, including “The Splitting Syndrome,” a syndrome unique to the collaborative process, a theory developed by the members of this training team in cases in which they worked together.

David S. Bouschor, II, JD—David is a litigation and collaborative lawyer who practices in the family law, probate and guardianship areas. He has served on a variety of committees with the Collaborative Institute of Texas, including the Forms Committee and the State Bar of Texas/CLI-TX Collaborative Conference planning committee. Bouschor is a past President of the Denton County Bar Association, and during his tenure, was responsible for the formation of the Denton County Alternative Dispute Resolution Program, a sliding-scale county mediation program, which handles approximately 300 mediations each year and has won numerous awards from the State Bar of Texas.

MaryAnn Kildebeck, LCSW—MaryAnn is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker specializing in forensic work. She has been involved in hundreds of collaborative cases, custody evaluations and adoption studies in the North Texas area. Parenting Facilitation and individual/family therapy make up a large portion of her practice. She has served as President of the Denton County Collaborative Professionals and on the CDT Forms Committee for several years. She co-authored the Parenting Plan Worksheet and co-presented at the CDT Advanced Training in 2016 the “roll-out” of that form. She has presented at Civil CL Forums in Dallas, the CL Section of the Dallas Bar Association, co-presented at CDT Annual Conferences and the IACP Annual Conference in Washington, D.C. She has worked to co-train attorneys, financial/mental health professionals and paralegals in Denton, Dallas, Collin, Tarrant and Parker Counties since 2008.

David Brunson, CFP, CFA, CDFA—David is the President of Lifeway Financial Corporation, a fee-only financial planning and investment management firm located in Plano, Texas. David holds the Certified Financial Planner, Certified Financial Analyst, and Certified Divorce Financial Analyst designations and is a member of the Financial Planning Association, the CFA Institute, the Institute for Certified Divorce Financial Analysts, Collaborative Divorce Texas, and the International Academy of Collaborative Professionals. David holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering from Texas Tech University and a Master of Business Administration degree with a concentration in Finance from the University of Texas at Arlington. He also holds a Graduate Studies Certificate in Alternative Dispute Resolution from Southern Methodist University. In addition to his corporate practice, David works as a financial advocate and neutral in various divorce settings, primarily practicing in the Collaborative Divorce arena. David served as an adjunct professor for the ADR degree programs at the SMU Center for Dispute Resolution and Conflict Management for ten years, teaching financial concepts in divorce and dispute resolution settings. David has published numerous articles and is a frequent speaker and trainer in the area of neutrality and interdisciplinary teams within the Collaborative Divorce process.
