Melinda Eitzen, JD. Melinda Eitzen is an attorney, mediator, and author in Dallas, and the co-founder of Duffee + Eitzen LLP. She is a Family Law practitioner who specializes in Collaborative Law, and has been recognized as a Master Level Collaborative Professional by Collaborative Law Texas. Melinda received her JD from the University of Houston in 1994, and has been practicing Family Law in the Dallas area for 24 years. She is an accomplished speaker and writer, having co-authored two books on Divorce: “Divorce The Collaborative Way: Is It The Way For You?” in 2009 and “Considering Divorce? Critical Things You Need To Know” in 2013. Melinda is also a former president of the Collin County Bar Association and has been selected as a Texas Monthly Super Lawyer in the Area of Family Law every year since 2009.

Julie H. Quaid, JD. Julie Quaid has been practicing family law in the Dallas area for almost 40 years. Her primary focus in her practice is collaborative divorce. Julie has been honored as one of the Best Women Lawyers in Dallas as well as routinely being recognized on the Super Lawyers list and in Best Lawyers in America in Collaborative Law: Family Law and in Family Law. She was named Lawyer of the Year in Collaborative Law: Family Law by Best Lawyers in America in 2017. Julie is the former chair of the Collaborative Law Section of both the Dallas Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Julie is credentialed by Collaborative Divorce Texas, currently serves as Vice President of the Board of Trustees of Collaborative Divorce Texas and is Board Chair of Café Momentum. She is a frequent speaker and trainer on the collaborative divorce process both nationally and internationally.

Honey A. Sheff, Ph.D., P.C. Dr. Honey Sheff is a licensed Clinical Psychologist, and holds a Graduate Certificate Degree in Dispute Resolution. She is recognized as a Master Level Collaborative Professional by Collaborative Law Texas. She has over 40 years of clinical experience, with expertise in family issues, divorce, and family violence. Her current clinical work is primarily focused in Collaborative Divorce, where she serves in the roles of Neutral Mental Health Professional and Child Specialist, and in Parenting Coordination, helping families during and after divorce. Her therapy practice is largely devoted to marital counseling, working with individuals who are dealing with divorce, and helping children whose parents are divorcing. She lectures and trains locally and nationally, makes radio and television appearances, and is a member of many professional organizations, including, TPA, CDT, and IACP where she often participates on working committees or serves in leadership roles. She is currently the President of Collaborative Divorce Texas, having been a member of the Board of Trustees since 2012. She was on the faculty of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center, and taught for 14 years at the University of Texas at Dallas.

Hunter Nibert, CPA, CDFA: Hunter helps successful individuals and families build, preserve and transfer wealth. Combining wealth accumulation strategies with tax minimization estate planning, he also serves a wide range of family-owned businesses. His areas of concentration include income and estate tax planning for individuals and families, tax planning and compliance for corporations and partnerships, asset protection and retirement planning, and tax and financial planning issues related to divorce. He also has extensive experience with corporations, investment partnerships and qualified retirement plans.
